Dear Family of God of Philadelphia,

During the summertime when I was a boy, (back when dinosaurs roamed the earth), my cousins and I would get on our bikes and ride through the neighborhood all morning. Sometimes we would even get called into a neighbor's house for a drink and a cookie. At lunchtime, we would go home and eat a sandwich, only to be back on our bikes soon after. Because the neighbors all knew each other and looked after each other, it was safe, and fun to be a child in those days.

Sometime around 5 in the afternoon, you would hear the sound of moms and dads from the back porch, calling out for the children to come home for supper. We would hurry home, wash up, and sit down with our families to hear about each person's day. There were no cell phones. Our one and only TV only received a few channels, and so there was little to distract us from family discussions. It was simpler time, and an easier time in which to nurture Godly families.

On Sundays, my mom would get up early to cook Sunday lunch. When that was finished, she would wake up my sister and I to get ready for church. I have many fond memories of church from those days. I loved watching Bill Pendleton direct the choir. I enjoyed the Bible stories we heard during the Sunday School hour. For most of my childhood, my pastor was Rev. Ralph Webb. He had a great sense of humor, and his sermons were never dull. It was a simpler time, and an easier time in which to nurture Godly families.

Today it is much harder. There are more distractions. We hardly know our neighbors. Having a daily family meal that does not involve going through a drive thru is becoming rare. Going to church has become a lower priority in most homes. And the innocence that we enjoyed during my childhood is stolen much too early from children today. It is a busier time, and a harder time in which to nurture godly families.

This month, on August 14, Philadelphia Baptist Church will hold its annual Homecoming service. Our speaker will be Quintell Hill, the pastor of Multiply Community Church, the Vice President of our State Convention, and my dear friend. After service, we will have an old fashioned covered dish lunch. That night through Wednesday night, we will have revival services. I hope you will make plans now to join us for these services. These traditions help to take us back to a simpler time, and makes it easier for us to nurture godly families.

May our Father bless you today. It is a joy to serve our Lord with you.

RCA

Our Homecoming and revival speaker this year will be Rev. Quintell Hill. He is the pastor of Multiply Community Church. He and his wife, Christie have two adopted daughters. Quintell also serves as the Vice President of our North Carolina Baptist Convention, and at November's Convention will be nominated for President. He has an amazing testimony of how God used a local church to transform him and his family out of a legacy of abuse, into a legacy of grace. Make plans now to join us for Homecoming on August 14th, and revival services August 14 – 17th.

North Carolina Baptists have a new logo. N.C. Baptists are a movement of churches on mission together, which is depicted in the design of our new logo. The bold, sharp and angular lines form a series of arrows and shapes that represent movement and connectedness. The lines and shapes form several arrows and angles pointing in different directions to represent that we are sent out and that the gospel is advancing in a variety of ways (Matthew 28:19-20). The arrows create an abstract block “N” and inverted “C” that underscores our shared identity as N.C. Baptists.

Clothes Closet News

Due to your generosity, the clothes closet has more adult clothing than we need or have room for. Until further notice, feel free to donate adult clothing to other worthy organizations (call the church if you need a suggestion).

With that being said, there is still a need for children and teen clothing and shoes. This need will be even greater as the school year draws near.

Thank you for your willingness to help our church minister in this way. Candie Porter
